Article 1

The Curriculum Advisory Committee of the College of Foreign Languages (hereinafter referred to as “the Committee”) is established in accordance with the "Regulations Governing the Establishment of the Curriculum Advisory Committee" of National Kaohsiung University of Science and Technology to improve the curriculum planning and meet the needs of the industry.

Article 2

The College Dean and all department chairpersons shall be the ex-officio members of the Committee, and the curriculum members of the Committee shall recommend experts from industries, scholars, and alumni as external advisory members. The duration of the term shall be one year, and they may be reappointed upon expiration. The members are eligible for re-election and re-appointment.

Article 3

The convener of the Committee meeting is the Dean who serves as the chairperson. The Dean with excused absence may be represented by a deputy representative elected from the members attending the meeting.

Article 4

The major responsibilities of the Committee are as follows.

- (1) To provide consultation on the curriculum planning of each department in the College.
- (2) To assist the departments of the College with the planning of internship and practical courses.
- (3) Other matters related to curriculum mapping

Article 5

The Meeting shall be held at least once each academic year and shall offer an advisory record for review by the curriculum committees at all levels.

Article 6

The Committee members are unpaid, but the College may pay transportation expenses, attendance fees or review fees if necessary.

Article 7

The Regulations Governing the Committee shall be implemented upon the approval at the College Affairs Meeting, and the same shall be done to any amendments thereto.
